The Project READS Student Program is an after-school tutoring program with a language arts focus designed for Kindergarten through third grade students. After attending a training session, volunteers of all ages worked with our students one hour each week, developing their literacy skills by making reading and writing fun and interesting. The Project READS tutoring hour started with a read-aloud story session, small healthy snack, and a Q and A follow-up time. All students then grouped with their volunteers one-to-one; the younger students to practice letter recognition, beginning sounds, and beginning sight words. The older students were supported by their volunteer tutor in reading for content, enhancing comprehension, and developing writing skills. The last fifteen minutes of the hour were spent playing educational games to keep minds engaged while having fun. Reading and comprehension assessments were conducted at the beginning and end of the program year to track improvement and growth. Student participants received incentive prizes such as new books each month and graduation gifts, including a small trophy at the end of the year, if applicable. For the 2013-2014 program year we had 148 active volunteers at 16 tutoring sites located throughout Allen County, Indiana and operated sites Monday through Thursday. Of the 140 students who completed two assessments 82% improved by 4 or more reading levels and were assisted in the language arts areas through Project READS. 52 students graduated from the program by reading at or above grade level.
